ACTRESS TAKES FATAL DRAUGHT OF DISINFECTANT

Drinks Poison, While Stage
Waits for Her.
MAID ATTEMPTS TO SAVE
"Girl from Missouri" Says "Let Me Kill Myself!"

Minnie St. Clair, Well Known in the Vaudeville World, Swallows a Quantity of "Lysol" While in Her Dressing Room at the Casino Theater—Dies Shortly Afterward at Emergency Hospital.

Despondent, so the police say, because of separation from her husband, Minnie St. Clair, thirty-eight years old, well-known in the vaudeville world as "The Girl from Missouri," who was billed at the Casino Theater this week as Sue Simpson, drank a part of the contents of a bottle of "Lysol," a disinfectant, in her dressing room at the F street playhouse last evening, dying about a half hour later in Emergency Hospital.

The actress had been indisposed in the afternoon, and was unable to appear at the first evening performance.
W. T. Kirby, manager of the theater, sent the colored maid, Jessie Height, to the dressing room to administer a dose of aromatic spirits of ammonia to Miss St. Clair.

SHE WANTED TO DIE.
"Don't give me that," protested the actress, as the maid was preparing the dose.
"Get me something and let me kill myself."

Miss St. Clair took the ammonia, and then, crossing the room, picked up a bottle of "Lysol" from the dressing table, drinking a large quantity of the contents. She reeled, screamed, and fell to the floor. The maid rendered what aid she could. Manager Kirby telephoned for physicians, and Policeman J. M. Mc-Carthy of the Sixth precinct, sent a call for the Emergency Hospital ambulance.

The colored maid, who had once been employed as a hospital attendant, placed her hand in the mouth of the dying actress, well knowing that if the teeth once closed down the physician would find it practically impossible to administer remedies.

Miss St. Clair was taken to the hospital, accompanied by the maid, but the efforts of the medical staff were futile.
For the woman died at 8:30 o'clock, thirty-five minutes after she had taken the fatal dose. The maid's hand was badly bitten and had to be treated at the hospital.

Coroner Is Notified.
Coroner Nevitt was notified of the death, and the body was ordered removed to the morgue. The coroner will issue a certificate this morning after he has made a thorough investigation of the case.

Minnie St. Clair arrived yesterday from New York, where she had been playing in vaudeville. She impersonated a country girl and had been giving her act for three years with much success.
At the afternoon performance at the Casino yesterday she was greeted with great applause, receiving six encores.

The police do not know the name of the husband of the actress or his whereabouts. It is known that the actress is survived by her mother and a sister living, but it has not been learned where they reside.

GET TWO JURORS IN McNAMARA CASE

Darrow Personally Assumes Charge of Examination.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 16.—Clarence Darrow, chief counsel for the McNamara defense, personally assumed the examination of veniremen this afternoon. When court adjourned he had closely questioned two of the prospective jurors and found nothing in their answers giving occasion for challenge for cause. He reserved the right to question them further to-morrow morning, but there is every prospect that these two men will not be challenged by the defense, and so far as their answers are concerned no ground for challenge by the prosecution has developed. The two men were John W. Roberts, a real estate man of Hollywood, and R. F.
Barnes, a carpenter, of Los Angeles.

By a clever tactical move, District Attorney Fredericks forestalled an adverse ruling by the court in the case of Veni-reman Z. T. Nelson by withdrawing his objection to the challenge. The district attorney's action came after Nelson, closely questioned by the court, declared he was not sufficiently sure of the state of his mind to swear he could give James B. McNamara a fair and impartial trial.

While the dismissal of Nelson temporarily delays a ruling by the court on the question of the qualification of veniremen for jury service, it is admitted by both the prosecution and defense that the matter will again come up in the near future.
